Dear M. Ravel:

Have you in your stock any specimens of plated silver coins at a reasonable figure? One of our members is interested in experimenting with these issues, and should you have any I should be glad to have them sent on approval up to five or six in number. The more the plating shows the better satisfied we should be.

I hope you are in good health and that the work on the Corinthian staters progresses steadily. I am planning to put part two (part two of Metopontum) up to about 360 B.C.) in the hands of the printer, but I am far from satisfied with the results.

Cordially yours,

Secretary.
